Celtic Jam loves music

For music lovers, nothing is as satisfying as being able to play the music you love with other like-minded people. Celtic Jam, held at Box Hill Community Arts Centre each Wednesday evening, gives you the chance to do just that! Life seems to go on without effort when I am filled with music. (George Eliot)

The Celtic Jam sessions are facilitated by QuasiTrad Music founder, Judy Oleinikov, to encourage players to put aside their doubts as to whether they're "good enough", and to just start playing with others. She says, "If you've always been a "bedroom" musician, it's a big step to start playing in front of others. But once you start, you'll wonder why you took so long!"

Players get together and learn a new tune or two each week and play through the shared repertoire they have built together, all at an easy-going pace. The tunes aren't technically difficult, and players don't need to be highly skilled on their instruments. "It's more about the social aspect of music", says Judy. "Getting back to the simplicity of sharing and enjoying a good tune together".

The tunes are mainly played by ear, which is the traditional Celtic way, so that players can really listen to those around them, rather than focusing on a sheet of paper. This adds to the social enjoyment and spontaneity of the group. For those players who are completely new to ear-learning, there's no need to panic - back up sheet music is on hand!

Love music, have fun

The group is also a performing group, playing regular gigs around Melbourne. Members range from teenagers to retirees, and play whistle, concertina, fiddle, guitar, mandolin, flute, piano, harp...the list is always growing.

We all need an outlet in order to live our lives to the fullest, and any music lover will agree with George Eliot that music is the answer. As Judy says, "If you've always enjoyed music, but don't know how to get back into it, this is the reason you've been looking for. Dust off your instrument and come and join us!"

Celtic Jam is on Wednesdays, 7:30 - 9:00pm, Box Hill Community Arts Centre. For details see the website: quasitrad.com/celtic-jam/ or phone Judy on 0422 868 680.

You matter to your community

Rochelle Bugno and Maxine Gross have been active in Surrey Hills and recently were thinking about what more they could do to help support their local community, particularly women escaping domestic and family violence, a serious issue which affects one in four women in Australia.

So they approached the Surrey Hills Neighbourhood Centre for support to launch their pilot project, 'You Matter'. You

Matter seeks donations of furniture and other household goods to set up homes for women who have had to flee abusive environments and need help establishing a new home, often with children. The initiative grew from a recent event where they heard of someone in need and appealed to the Surrey Hills community to donate furniture and other items to help. They were blown away by the support and kindness of the local community.

The project is currently in its planning stage but they are interested in hearing from you if you would like to join the committee, become a volunteer to help sort, tidy and repair, or if you have furniture or other household goods that you would like to donate. Please email admin@youmatter.org.au or www.surreyhillsnc.org.au if you would like more information, or if you would like to register your interest.

Delay of Union Road upgrade

Despite last year saying that improvements in Union Road were to proceed in the near future, Boroondara Council has now put everything on hold, purportedly because of the proposal to put the railway under the road, which could be a few years away. This makes sense in the area immediately adjacent to the current railway crossing, but it is hard to understand why it affects other parts of the work. The long-awaited public toilet has also been deferred.

A related concern is the status of the long-awaited 40kph speed limit through the shopping centre. This has nothing to do with the railway crossing proposal, yet Boroondara Council has failed to implement what everyone agrees is an important safety measure.

Surely we don't have to wait for another accident before action is taken. This will require signs at both ends of the shopping centre, and also signs on the side streets so that motorists know they are moving from a 50km/h zone to a 40km/h zone.

So that these promised changes remain on the agenda, the issues you raised arose during last year's consultation are listed as follows.

- Safety: Traffic calming including reducing the speed limit along Union Road to 40km/hour
- Creating a 'Sense of Place' with more places to sit, including south of the railway line
- Removing the Level Crossing (now being programmed by the State Government)
- Improving accessibility and the footpath's condition
- The proposed seating at the Neighbourhood Centre was viewed as harsh, uncomfortable and inappropriate for Surrey Hill's historic character. Several residents also requested a grassy area for informal seating.

As the plans were developed from concepts to detailed drawings, Council responded to these themes by:

- Including raised thresholds at Sunbury, Stirling and Windsor Crescents to increase pedestrian safety and amenity
- Retaining the significant Plane trees along Union Road that contribute to the neighbourhood's leafy, green character.
- Improving the forecourt at the Neighbourhood Centre with new paving, seats and decorative lighting; making the forecourt an attractive place for locals to gather and meet. Modifying the conceptual seating designs proposed for the Neighbourhood Centre to include timber seats in response to community feedback. The latest drawings also include an area of lawn for informal seating, where a temporary stage can be placed during the annual music festival
- Creating two new seating areas on either side of Windsor Crescent
- Renewing footpath pavement along Union Road, which have been left badly pockmarked by telecom work

- Installing new bike racks and seats along the length of Surrey Hills Shopping Centre.
- Replacing the broken timber garden bed edges along Union Road with bluestone edging, complementing the historical character of the Surrey Hills neighbourhood
- Submitting an application to VicRoads to fund the reduction of the speed limit to 40km/hour (this was promised years ago, but not acted on)
- Constructing a new kerb outstand designed to mitigate the water run-off from the road as well as irrigating the new planting.

For further information please contact Sue Godfrey or Mark Skiba, Senior Landscape Architects on 9278 4060. For enquiries regarding the public toilet for Surrey Hills Shopping Centre, please contact Cherry Marquez, Senior Project Manager at cherry.marquez@boroondara.vic.gov.au

Course Highlights

I recently attended the Neighbourhood Houses Victoria conference.

There are some amazing statistics around Neighbourhood Houses.

Over 200,000 people visit

Neighbourhood Houses each week in Victoria, which is a 27% increase in usage during the last 6 years. There are around 400 Neighbourhood Houses in Victoria all doing important work responding to community needs and helping in diverse areas such as emergency relief, work and life skills training, providing material and food aid, running activities and courses that help combat real health issues around loneliness and sedentary behaviour, as well as helping support and integrate people who have physical or cultural needs.

There's currently a shift in how we report and measure our effectiveness. Traditionally, we've had to provide onerous data including attendance levels, gender, dates of birth, postcodes and program hours. I wish that all these numbers and statistics could be complemented by capture of anecdotal evidence that shows the profound change that happens in organisations such as ours.

When I look at the connections, friendships and support that we develop around the provision of our courses and activities, I think that simple measurements of hours and numbers are often inadequate. And when I think of places that run courses and activities, I think about how they miss our specific community development approach, where we look at the person and what they may need from us and from others. It's what makes our organisation unique and a special place to work and visit.

Explore the Wurundjeri Heritage Trail

Willsmere-Chandler Park, part of the Wurundjeri Heritage Trail, provides a critical native flora and fauna corridor for the Middle Yarra River. It is one of the City of Boroondara's most significant natural heritage assets. The park is located along the northern-most edge of the City of Boroondara. The two billabongs are an integral part of the Yarra River's floodplain and help to maintain the ecological health of the river system. They are the last remaining billabongs within the lower reaches of the Yarra River. The park comprises around 23ha bounded by the Yarra River to the north, the Eastern Freeway to the south, Yarra Bend Park and Chandler Highway to the west, and residential properties and Green Acres Golf Club to the east.

Surrey Hills Music Festival 2019

Jenny Gay has been appointed as the new Director of the Surrey Hills Music Festival and will manage the event through her company, Packed House Productions. She is already on the job and keen to hear from you.

With extensive experience in delivering community events and managing arts venues, festivals and programs, Jenny started her career as a performer, instrumental music teacher and musical director of theatre shows. She also worked in ticketing and subscriptions for the Australian Ballet, Melbourne International Comedy Festival, and Melbourne Symphony. She then moved to Queensland to take up the role of Administrator for the Queensland Theatre Company for several years, before returning to Melbourne to work at the Victorian College of the Arts and then as Co-CEO/General Manager of Polyglot Puppet Theatre.

Over the past 12 years, Jenny has worked in local government, managing events and arts programs for the City of Casey and the Mornington Peninsula Shire, and programming performing arts performances for the Drum Theatre in Dandenong and the Knox Community Arts Centre.

Jenny holds a Bachelor of Performance from the Conservatorium and a Masters in Arts and Entertainment Management from Deakin University. She is thrilled to take on the role of Director for our Festival and is keen to ensure that there are musical performances from a variety of genres included in the program, so the Festival meets the tastes of a wide variety of members of the community.

Jenny is particularly interested in engaging with local musicians, bands and choirs, to ensure the Festival gives our community the opportunity to showcase their talents. Expressions of interest for music acts are now open on the Surrey Hills Music Festival website, and musicians of all ages and abilities, are encouraged to apply. See <http://www.surreyhillsmusicfestival.com/performers.html>

A mid-winter concert

The Whiffler Flute Quartet and To the Five Winds Quintet (flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon and French horn) will give a concert at Holy Trinity Anglican Church, Surrey Hills, on Sunday 30 June at 2.30pm.

They will perform music by various composers including Bach, Mozart, Debussy, Faure, Elgar, Andrew Lloyd Webber and Amy Beach. The program will include a variety of quintets, quartets, trios, duets and solos, some with piano accompaniment. Entry by donation at the door for the Asylum Seeker Resource Centre.

For more information phone 98788473.

Understanding and responding to children's behaviour

Do you sometimes feel like you just don't know what to do next in your parenting? Do you wonder why your children behave the way they do and what to do about it? This presentation by Angela McCann for Whitehorse Council provides an overview of some of the reasons why children behave the way they do and gives some practical strategies for parents to support their children and guide their behaviours in appropriate ways. Parents are able to raise questions at the presentation and this provides an opportunity for specific issues to be addressed.

With over 30 years of experience in the early childhood sector and qualifications in Early Childhood Teaching and in Special Education, Angela McGann from Early Life Foundation believes all learning starts with relationships. She has been a Director and Teacher in a number of community-based kindergartens, has worked with babies to 12-year-old children and their families as a Play Therapist at Monash Medical Centre and has also been a Sessional Lecturer in the Early Childhood Department at Monash University's Peninsula Campus. 18 June 2019, 7:00 pm-9:30 pm, Whitehorse Centre (rear of Nunawading Library), 397 Whitehorse Road, Nunawading. For more information phone 9262 6333.

Sunday Afternoon concerts

On Sunday, 28 July at 2.00pm, the well-known Savoy Singers come to Holy Trinity with a varied program of Music to Make You Smile. The concert will be held in the church which is on the corner of Union Road and Montrose Street, Surrey Hills. Joining the Savoy Singers will be the percussionist, John Wise from the Australian Pops Orchestra.

To celebrate the 20th anniversary of the rebuilding of Holy Trinity's pipe organ Thomas Heywood, an international concert organist and entertainer will be playing on Sunday, 11 August at 2.30pm. His program consists of classical organ pieces plus his own arrangements/transcriptions of well-known orchestral pieces. Thomas also has a video screen so people can see his hands and feet as he plays.

Tickets at door are $20.00 (adults) and $10.00 (children), and this includes afternoon tea in Trinity Hall afterwards. Both the church and hall are heated. For more information: 9808 0390

Canterbury Neurology

Canterbury Neurology was recently opened at 567A Canterbury Road, Surrey Hills by neurologist Dr Richard Blazé. In 2014, Dr. Richard Blazé undertook a three-year fellowship in the movement disorder unit at the Royal Melbourne Hospital. Then, to enhance his knowledge and experience in deep brain stimulation, Richard spent a year in Paris at the Pitié-Salpêtrière Hospital. Richard and his family returned to Melbourne in 2018 and he began working as a consultant at the Alfred Hospital and at the Department of Neurosciences at Monash University. He and his wife Cindi also opened their private practice, Canterbury Neurology, soon after.

Amanda, Richard, and Cindi.

Canterbury Neurology offers patients a personalised service, giving them enough time to express their concerns and to understand any diagnoses and recommended treatments. The initial contact by phone is with Cindi, practice manager, who takes the patient through the steps relating to their first appointment. Then, when the patient arrives for their consultation, the atmosphere is relaxed and pleasant, putting the patient, carers and relatives at ease. Richard specialises in treating movement disorders including Parkinson's disease, tremor and dystonia. He also treats patients with general neurology concerns such as memory decline, stroke, migraine, multiple sclerosis and epilepsy.

Providing additional support and guidance to patients is Amanda Kearney, a registered nurse, who brings to the practice a wealth of experience and expertise. Amanda sees patients in conjunction with Richard and she plays an important role in the migraine clinic and follows up with patients post treatment.

The practice has established connections with local allied health businesses. Nearby is Parkinson's Victoria, which serves as an independent reference point for patients who have been diagnosed with Parkinson's disease and offers information and resources to patients, carers and health professionals.

Richard and his family thoroughly enjoy living in the area. Their children take part in local sporting activities and Richard enjoys his evening runs around 'The Hills'. Both Richard and Cindi are accomplished musicians: Richard is a guitarist in the group "Wagons" and Cindi sings in two groups. They are looking forward with great interest to the next Surrey Hills Music Festival.

Time flies when you are having fun

Five years ago, local resident Lisa Luke had the creative idea that Surrey Hills needed an affordable gift shop, one that sourced beautiful local products. Her idea turned into reality when she opened Rustic Heart at 118 Union Road, opposite the Bendigo Bank. Walking into the shop, the senses are immediately heightened: the gentle aromas lead the eyes to a great diversity of products, gifts for yourself or for your family and friends.

Lisa says that very popular gifts are those for babies and young mums. To make it easy to shop, she provides a personal kerbside service. You can phone her with your choice, park out the front, and she will bring out the gifts and the eftpost machine, and you can drive away without having to get the kids out of the car! For more information, see www.rusticheart.com.au

2020 Community Exhibition Program - applications now open

Artists who live, work or study in Boroondara are invited to apply for the Community Exhibition Program for 2020. The program at the Town Hall Gallery is devoted to talented local artists. Exhibition space is offered free of charge and includes professional curation, presentation, promotion and the opportunity for artwork to be sold on behalf of the artist. Successful applicants benefit from curatorial advice, mentoring, career development and the opportunity to exhibit work to a broad audience. Applications are encouraged from: local emerging artists; local unrepresented artists; school groups in Boroondara; students from local organisations; small arts organisations based in Boroondara; historical groups in Boroondara; and libraries in Boroondara. Applications are open until 30 June 2019.
